(Discuss importance in terms of historical or architectural context as defined by theme, period, and geographic scope. Also address integrity.)

The structure is located in the City of Huntington Park, in a small scale residential area adjacent to the City of Vernon, the first "exclusively industrial" city in America. The multi-family dwelling is vernacular in style and is very non-descript.

The integrity of this property is low due to its many periods of alterations. Additionally, it is not a particularly good example of the architectural style or of a method of construction. Research of available historical records has not uncovered any significant associations of the occupants.
